Drouth Commission Visited In Panhandle

REX TUGWELL DENIES PLAN MOVE FARMERS

President Will Receive Report Soon From Visitors Through the Dust Bowl

MARVIN JONES TALKS

Local Committee Makes Proposal to Commission Regarding the Future Work in Southwest

President Roosevelt's drouth inspection committee visited Amarillo Monday, and received recommendations from local citizens regarding the drouth situation.

Dr. Rexford Tugwell made it clear that no one in Washington had recommended that farmers be moved from this section to more favorable sections of the United States. This rumor was spread over the Panhandle several weeks ago as having come from one of Dr. Tugwell's assistants.

Rural electrification was stressed by Morris L. Cooke, chairman of the commission. He pointed out that with cheap electricity, pumps could be run over the Panhandle cheaply enough to irrigate the entire section. He predicted that in a few years electricity would be available to all farmers.

Congressman Marvin Jones declared that "over a period of 30 years this country can produce more, net of gross, than any other section of Texas," but declared it needs an "adequate system of credit with a lower rate of interest."

He told the Commission that he had never heard "any man in any official position advocate depopulation" of this section, and lauded efforts of the government in reducing interest rates on all indebtedness.

The party consisted of Mr. Cooke; Dr. Tugwell; John C. Page, acting commissioner and chief engineer of the Bureau of Reclamation; Col. F. C. Harrington, assistant to Harry L. Hopkins in the administration of the WPA; Frederick H. Fowler, director of the drainage basin study of the National Resources Committee; Col. Richard C. Moore, U. S.

Pioneer Dentist

The family arrived here 30 years ago this month from Iowa, and Dr. Ingham has practiced his profession in the same building thruout all these years.

He opened his office in the back of the Canyon National Bank the first of September, 1906, where he stayed until February when the upstairs rooms to the building were completed. He then moved upstairs to the northeast corner room, and later to the office he now occupies.

During the years Dr. Ingham has lived in Canyon he has taken a very active part in civic work. He served on the city council after the town was incorporated. He was later a member of the school board. Two years ago he served as president of the Rotary Club.

"Some of these days I shall write some interesting recollections of the early days in Canyon," stated Dr. Ingham Tuesday.

Adult Sewing Class Has Change Today In Meeting Time

For this week only the regular Thursday meeting of the Adult Sewing Class has been changed to Friday evening, Aug. 21, at 8 o'clock so that members of the class may attend the graduation exercises at the College tonight.

At the regular meeting Tuesday, various devices which help to make putting clothes away properly an easier and more pleasant task were shown the group, and possibilities for making them at home or purchasing them at a minimum cost was discussed.

At the meeting tomorrow evening the class will learn to make bound buttonholes; to sew on hooks and eyes so that they will stay on; to sew on buttons correctly; to sew in set-in sleeves without having to baste; and will learn when it is best to use a snap, a hook an eye or a button for fastening a garment. Anyone who is interested in this type of work is invited to attend the class next Friday evening, whether they are regularly enrolled members of the class or not. It will be necessary that they bring sewing equipment, a hook and eye, a snap, a button and a piece of material so that they may take part in the class activity.

Commencement to Close Summer Session This Evening

Good Record Is Made During the Summer Quarter, With Many New Features

Final commencement exercises for the summer session will be held this evening at 8:15 o'clock in the auditorium of the administration building.

Dr. J. A. Hill will deliver the commencement address to the class, following which he will grant degrees to the members of the class who have completed their work this summer.

The session coming to a close tonight is one of the most successful in several years. The attendance has shown an increase over last year, in spite of the prevailing hot weather for the second period.

The program of the summer has been unique in many respects, especially the first six weeks, when so many prominent speakers were brought here for special assignments. The Coaching School, the Palo Duro Art School, and the newspaper clinic were among the early attractions which brought many people to the campus.

Many members of the faculty will leave for short vacations before the opening of the fall session Sept. 15th. Indications are good for a large enrollment for the opening of the 27th year of the college.

A number of interesting and entertaining events have been held during the past week which added to the festivities of the commencement occasion.

The final band concert of the summer was given on Tuesday night of last week. The band was

Friday Heat Record Is Highest Reached In the Panhandle During the Summer

The highest heat wave of the season hit Canyon Friday afternoon, the thermometer registering 110 degrees. The former highest for the year was 108.

Thursday was 107 degrees; Sunday 106, and Monday 101.

Cooler weather has prevailed this week, with a maximum of 99 on Tuesday and 97 yesterday.

The usual cool nights have been resumed, the temperature dropping to 68 degrees Wednesday morning.

Light showers in places to the south and southeast yesterday afternoon greatly moderated the temperature.

Just what effect the continued drouth has had on the row crop cannot be estimated. The damage has been great, and the crop continues to suffer daily without rain. However, some of the feed is standing up so much better than was thought possible a week ago.

The lack of moisture of pasture, and for preparing the wheat crop is getting to be a real menace.

Postoffice Contract Will Be Let Friday By Treasury Dept.

The contract for the new postoffice building in Canyon will be let in Washington tomorrow.

The treasury department authorizes the contracts for the federal buildings. Congressman Marvin Jones recently stated that approximately $65,000 had been set aside for the building and the fixtures for the new building.

Construction on postoffice buildings usually gets underway within a month of the time the contract is let, and about 200 working days is the time limit set on such buildings.

Several Amarillo contractors are said to be bidding on the new building. It is likely that information will be received by Saturday regarding the contract.

Following the discussion, a watermelon feast will be held on the court house lawn.

"We want new ideas regarding this fall campaign," stated Mr. Warren this morning. "It will take the full co-operation of all merchants and professional men in Canyon to put over the campaign which the directors discussed last night, and we hope to have all business men and women present," stated Mr. Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Irby Carruth and son are on a vacation trip to New Mexico.

Several Cases Are Disposed of in District Court During the Past Week

A jury heard evidence in the case W. A. Walton vs. Texas Employers Insurance Co. Thursday and Friday, but an agreed verdict was reached Saturday morning before court opened. This is the only jury case which has been tried this session.

The petit jury will assemble again this morning hoping that two cases will be ready for trial.

The grand jury was in session Tuesday returning an indictment against Lendell King, who was arrested last week charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. The King car hit Jim Vester's car on the highway, badly damaging both vehicles. King was under $1,000 bond until the grand jury met.

The grand jury adjourned Tuesday, after having been in session only three days this session.

Thirty-six old tax suits were dismissed Tuesday, which had been on the docket for several years. Most of the taxes had been paid.

LIGHT VOTE IS FEARED IN PRIMARY

Few Races in Panhandle Might Change Chances of Col. Thompson As Commissioner

NO COUNTY RACE

Commissioner in Precinct 2, and State Representative Races Hold Local Interest

The run-off primary will be held in Texas on Saturday of this week.

From every indication the vote will be light in this primary owing to the fact that so many counties have no local campaigns to settle in this primary. However, hot races are being staged in many counties, which will bring out a good vote.

Only two state races are to be settled in the second primary, that of Railroad Commissioner, and State Commissioner of Agriculture.

An intensive campaign has been waged by the four candidates in these races.

One district race is to be settled Saturday, that of State Representative. G. H. Little was the leading candidate in the first primary, with Herman Wright running second. Both are from Amarillo.

Randall county has no county offices to be filled. The only race in the county is for County Commissioner, Precinct No. 2, with Clarence Beckman and W. H. Neal as the candidates.

There will be only one voting box in Canyon. This will be at the court house, with D. A. Shirley as judge of the election.

The same election judges as served in the July primary will serve in the run-off campaign in the other voting boxes. With the short ballot for this election, the county returns should be completed at 9:00 o'clock. The returns for the county will be posted at the News office, but no state returns will be received.

The following is the official ballot:

For Railroad Commissioner:
Ernest O. Thompson, Potter Co.
Frank S. Morris, Dallas Co.

For State Commissioner of Agriculture:
J. E. McDonald, Ellis Co.
George B. Terrell, Cherokee Co.

For State Representative, 123rd District:
Herman Wright, Potter Co.
G. H. Little, Potter Co.

For County Commissioner, Precinct No. 2:
Clarence Beckman
W. H. Neal

VOTE NEXT SATURDAY

The News wishes it might say something this week which would interest the people of Randall county sufficiently that they would go to the polls next Saturday and vote in the second primary.

It seems strange that for a people who profess to believe so strongly in the democratic form of government, that so little interest is being shown in the final primary of the year, and that from every indication this primary will draw such a small vote.

The primary is not complete until the votes of the second primary are counted. By all means, voters should go to the polls next Saturday and make the final selection of the year so far as the state and district candidates are concerned.

There are only two state-wide races, one district race, and one precinct race to be settled so far as Randall county is concerned, but these offices are of vital importance to the people of the state.

Col. Ernest O. Thompson lacked only 9,000 of receiving a majority over his four opponents in the first primary. The second man in the race was Frank S. Morris of Dallas, who was a very poor second in the race. Morris knows nothing about the office for which he is running. He was a Methodist preacher, but could not get along with his denomination. He is supposed to be a lawyer now, but has no reputation. The Railroad Commission handles the most important problems in connection with the state's business, including railroads, oil and gas, motor trucks and busses, and other important phases of the state's government. Experience counts more than promises from a man who knows nothing of his job. West Texas citizens should vote unanimously for the red headed Amarilloan who has done so much real constructive work for the state.

There is not much of a choice between J. E. McDonald and George B. Terrell so far as the men are concerned. McDonald has made a mess of his office while Commissioner of Agriculture. But Terrell boasts of his votes in Congress against AAA and nearly everything that President Roosevelt advocated. The farmers of the state are very hostile against Terrell, and are out to see that he is defeated.

The most important office so far as Randall county is concerned is that of State Representative. G. H. Little was the leading candidate in four counties of the district, while Herman Wright lead in two of the counties. Little lasked only 1049 votes of having a majority over his two opponents in the first primary. The fact that Wright is just out of the University is probably the strongest argument being used against his candidacy. Both are lawyers by profession, Little having practiced in Amarillo for about 10 years. More interest is being taken in this race in Randall county since the first primary owning to the short ballot which will confront the voters. Local workers for both candidates are active this week urging the people to vote Saturday.

The only local race in Randall county is for Commissioner in Precinct No. 2. Clarence Beckman lead in the first primary with Commissioner W. H. Neal second. Both candidates and their numerous friends have been very active in the campaign during the past month, and it is expected that a big vote will be polled in this precinct.

This leads The News to condemn the run-off primary as a useless and unnecessary expense to the candidates. The State Executive Committee has condemned the run-off, and has appointed a committee to make a study of the primary system with a view of eliminating the worthless features.

The preferential primary has been used successfully in many states. Under this system the voter expresses his choice in numerical order of 1st choice, 2nd, etc. These are tabulated and the winner easily selected. In the present campaign the 1st and 2nd choices of Col. Thompson would have made him an easy winner. The other campaigns would have been decided, with the voters more nearly getting their real choice of candidates than they would under the existing practice.

Vote Saturday!

THANKS, HOMER

Homer Steen in Floydada Hesperian: Up at Canyon, C. W. Warwick of The Canyon News, had the interesting experience of being jumped on editorially by many of his neighboring county newspapers for his stand for Senator Clint Small for re-election.

Some of the criticism was rather pointed and a considerable bit of it unjust. But Warwick, fortunately, is of the type that can take punishment and absorb it without souring. To sorter pour salve on the wounds we voice the opinion that the most useful newspaper worker in the Panhandle of the past twenty-five years has been none other than he. Definitely a patriot, Warwick has made more history in the Eighteenth District than any contemporary worker of the fourth estate.

The Canyon News certainly appreciates the above kind words, coming from a man who is so highly esteemed for his fairness toward all his neighbors.

So far as the Small-Douglass battle is concerned, it is past history. We have enough political sense, and have learned enough from past political battles to know how absurd it is to keep digging into the political bone-yard and exposing the unpleasantnesses of past campaigns. Senator Small won, and if he lives, will be the senator for the next four years. The lines which were formed in 1936 will be broken by 1940. The ones who were in one camp in 1936, may find themselves in an altogether different camp in 1940. The actors of 1936 will very likely be relegated to the ash can in 1940.

Those who are indulging in their first political battle are prone to attempt keeping old sores fresh in the minds of the people, little realizing that old battles mean nothing to the voters—to the victor belongs all the glory, and that the fellows whom you battle today are most likely to be fighting hand in hand with you in the next political battle.

Serving four years in the legislature is the greatest training one may have. There he learns to fight his opponent on a measure fairly, honestly, but with all the power he possesses; but realizing that he will be calling on that very same hand the next day, or even the next hour, to be his ally on some measure in which both are interested.

In every political campaign we hear the corporations soundly berated and charges made against them. We have been looking into the history of a number of corporations recently, and find that the big corporations are not controlled by any one individual, or by any small group of individuals. The sulphur companies of Texas have been roundly abused by politicians, including Governor Allred. The facts are that these companies are not owned by New York bankers; but stock is owned in nearly every state in the union by people seeking an investment; that 40% of the stockholders are women who have small capital which they have invested in order to get dividends; that a large percent of the stock is owned by Texas people scattered all over the state. Political and economic ignorance are very often expressed by those seeking office.

The so-called Constitutional Democrats, who predict the defeat of President Roosevelt, have been guilty of defaming the constitution as often as any body of individuals. Most of them are dyed in the wool Republicans but assume the Democratic role for political expediency. They are the guys who were sheding copios tears four years ago when everything had gone to smash, and wept on the shoulder of Roosevelt to save them. Now that they are saved, they have no gratitude. They have no gratitude for the best friend they ever had.

This is the last week that the six constitutional amendments will be printed in The News. If you have not read them, do so this week. The News will give you information on the amendments from time to time before the November election, but read the amendments for yourself this week.

At Last—The Perfect Robot Hen!

After six years of experimentation, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has brought forth Gertrude, a mechanical hen that lays eggs the size of coconuts and tells spectators just how it's done. Gertrude isn't the first robot hen, but she's the first perfected mechanical fowl. One of Gertrude's predecessors, for instance, laid her eggs hind part forward. Another described operations in a deep bass voice. This new 1936 model is six feet tall, electrically lighted, produces her eggs in the correct direction and speaks soprano.

NYA Regulations To Remain Same As 1935-36 Plan

Quota of Workers Set At 103; 12 Percent of Enrollment

Regulations governing the National Youth Administration in the college during the next session will remain virtually the same as those of last year. Appointments will be made on a basis of need for the work and the character and ability of the applicant with emphasis on his scholastic record.

W. T.'s quota of workers will be the same as last year, 103, which is 12% of the student body based on the enrollment in October, 1934. Employees will continue to receive an average wage of $15 monthly with a maximum of $20 for any one month.

Appointments are being made by the N. Y. A. committee as rapidly as possible, and appointees will receive notice of their appointment as soon as possible, Prof. C. A. Murray, chairman of the committee, said.

The policy of appointing an equal number of applicants from each of the counties in this district will be continued by the committee. The number of workers allotted to the various departments in the school will be the same.

"Persons who have been on the N. Y. A. before and have made good and must continue to have aid in order to carry on their school work will be given preference," Mr. Murray said.

The National Youth Administration committee here includes Prof. C. A. Murray, Chairman, Dr. Harris M. Cook, Miss Edna Graham, Prof. Stuart H. Condron, and Dr. B. F. Fronabarger.

Tour Members To Return For Final Exams Today

This group represents the National Parks Tour which has traveled for the past five weeks in New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, and Arizona. College credit in agriculture and education will be granted for work they have done on the tour. Many of the classes were held out of doors.

This tour was the third of its kind to be sponsored by W. T. and directed by Frank R. Phillips, head of the agriculture department here.

Camp-fire life and out-of-doors study is blended on these tours. The group camps each night and the caravan finds at each stop a meal prepared by the advance car and a camping place provided.

Royal Gorge, Grand Teton National Park, Yellowstone, Bryce Canyon, Zion National Park, Grand Canyon, Oak Creek Canyon, and Petrified Forest were visited by the tour this summer.

Greece and Albania have no radio stations. Well, that's one way of taking care of those announcers.

Mrs. C. S. Johnston Discovers Fossilized Prehistoric Horse

Mrs. C. S. Johnston, woman paleontologist in charge of the Donley County fossil project, and wife of Prof. C. S. Johnston, who is head of the department of paleontology here, made a rare discovery on Rock Creek recently when the expedition uncovered a prehistoric horse. Mrs. Johnston is said to be the only woman paleontologist in charge of a fossil expedition in America.

Rock Creek is at the head of Tule Canyon about 12 miles southwest of Silverton in Briscoe County. The expedition is in search of fossil remains for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

The fossil specimen uncovered is remarkably complete and is believed certain to create a widespread interest in paleontological circles throughout the country. Only a single lime bone is missing and the fossil hunters are working overtime to recover the lost fragment. The site of the discovery is in the rich Pleistocene locality situated on the Cross McDaniel ranch already famous for numerous expeditions led into that region by such notable paleontologists as Dr. Gidley, Dr. Andrews, Dr. Frick Chase, Dr. Sturton, Dr. Wood, and A. L. Johnson of Gobi Desert fame.

The specimen will be mounted and placed on exhibit in Pioneer Hall.

It is estimated that the little horse which Mrs. Johnston discovered became extinct 2,500 centuries ago.

El Pueblo Rooms Filling Up Rapidly, Says Supervisor

Cottages Are Experiment In Co-operative Living

Applications are being received daily for rooms in the recently completed group of student cottages, T. M. Moore, supervisor of the cottages, disclosed Saturday.

El Pueblo, the name chosen by Dr. J. A. Hill last week for the cottages, is an experiment in co-operative living to reduce school costs.

"Each house will contain besides a married couple, four carefully selected young men," said Mr. Moore. "Under this plan, the young men selected will be able to secure room and board for approximately $15 per month. In addition to co-operating on paying the living expenses, each person in the houses will be assigned minor household duties."

Conducted with a PWA loan and grant, the cottages are located on the northeast corner of the campus and are situated in a semi-circle. Spanish style architecture was used throughout the project. Each cottage has three bedrooms, a large hall, a bath, and a kitchen. Equipment in each house includes an automatic water heater, an electric refrigerator, and cooking range.

A married couple will be in charge of each cottage. The wife will have charge of planning, preparing, and serving the meals. For these services, she will receive her room and board. The husband and the young men staying there will share the living expenses. Costs of living are not expected to exceed $15 per month for each person.

"In this way," stated Mr. Moore, "we believe that approximately forty young people will be enabled to reduce the expense of attending college through 1936-37.

EMERGENCIES

She called a doctor for a distracted mother whose baby was ill. She helped locate a barge so a farmer could save 37 head of cattle on an island about to be flooded. She handled a call that rushed workmen to strengthen a crumbling levee. And she told an anxious motorist that the highway to the west was still above water.

To her, this was all in the day's work.

Some other things that are "all in the day's work" in the Bell System are the staff work of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the researches of Bell Laboratories, the skillful manufacturing and buying of Western Electric.

You seldom think of these organizations. Yet without the help they give to the men and women who furnish telephone service here, it would be difficult to make that service as fast, as clear, as far-reaching, and as low in cost as you have learned to expect.

Tri-State Fair Will Open Better Show on Sept. 21

With increased cash premiums, more exhibit space, better amusement features and added departments, the Tri-State Fair will open its fourteenth annual exposition in Amarillo, Sept. 21.

"Interest in the 1936 exposition has started earlier than ever in the history of the association and there is every indication of a banner year for the Tri-State Fair," declared O. L. "Ted" Taylor, secretary-manager.

Gene Howe—"Old Tack"—this year is president of the Tri-State Fair.

More than 4,000 catalogs, carrying a list of premiums amounting to approximately $20,000 and all guaranteed for payment in full, have been mailed.

"The Tri-State Fair has the money in the bank right now to pay all premiums offered," said Taylor.

Since the first catalogs were issued there has been a heavy demand for premium lists. Copies may be obtained by writing to the Tri-State Fair.

For the first time since 1932 the Tri-State Fair this year will have a full poultry department, arranged to meet the insistent demands of fanciers throughout the Southwest. Earl Curry of Amarillo will be superintendent of the department.

"To accommodate the ever-increasing crowds that attend the Tri-State Fair the association since last year's exposition has spent approximately $35,000 in improvements," explained Mr. Taylor.

The expenditures were made principally to increase exhibit space.

"The new poultry department will have a building of its own—so will the agriculture exhibits, both county and individual," explained Mr. Taylor. "The automobile building has been remodeled entirely, providing more display space for domestic arts, domestic science and other departments."

On the amusement zone this year will be the United Shows of America, which will come direct from the Michigan State Fair at Detroit, making a $4,000 railroad jump.

The fall meet of the Tri-State Fair races will begin Friday, Sept. 18, at an improved plant. The races will continue throughout fair week.

Parties See Crop Insurance as Good Campaign Medicine

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON. — Crop insurance seems to be the coming agricultural remedy.

During the last few months the feeling has grown in Washington that, whichever party wins in November, some sort of insurance plan will be worked out to protect the farm population against the ravages of Nature.

Several factors are responsible for this feeling. Three of them are the old Federal Farm Board, the AAA crop control programs, and the current soil conservation program.

Soil conservation has not yet proved equal to the job of "bringing back" the American farmer. Drouth and the supreme court did things to the AAA crop control idea, which might not have worked anyhow. The Farm Board is part of a dim past.

The fact that some effective means of aiding agriculture must be worked out, and quickly, is seeping into political minds. Both sides are realizing that crop insurance might prove good campaign medicine.

OTHERS besides the farmers would be wooed by such insurance. The consumers, for example, ought to like a plan that would protect them against violent fluctuations in price of farm products.

The drouth has brought things to a head. Wide areas that yielded bumper crops in years of heavy rainfall will produce nothing this year. Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace says crop insurance and the "ever-normal granary" plan would balance these years, keeping supply and price of farm products within reasonable limits.

Wallace has been chief promoter of the crop insurance idea. Governor Landon is rumored as considering its advocacy.

Few persons have any definite ideas at present about premium rates. One plan would work out a rate on the basis of the average annual crop deficiency over a six-year period and a similar average for the individual farm. Proposals have set the percentage of insurance as high as 75 per cent.

COLLECTION of premiums in form of grain in bumper crop years seems to be favored over cash premiums. Besides drawing off surplus, this also would build up the "ever-normal granary."

As early as 1928 William M. Jardine, then secretary of agriculture, pointed out that farmers without resources could not, in most cases, survive one bad crop year. Jardine also pointed out difficulties in the crop insurance system.

Discrimination against the better farming sections, bringing more submarginal land into cultivation, would, Jardine said, result from a uniform-rate plan.

Other vulnerable points stand out. Some localities would have high premium rates because of severe crop hazards. Complaints from these sections would put the political pressure on for rate revision.

Then there would be, of course, the difficulty of making certain that policy holders lived up to regulations.

Football Practice To Begin Sept. 1 With Many Prospects

Baggett Scheduled To Return Thursday From New York

West Texas State's football practice for the 1936 season will start Sept. 1 with the return of 11 lettermen, 9 squadmen, and 15 sophomores, who were members of last year's formidable freshmen squad.

Coach Al Baggett, who has been attending school in Columbia University this summer, will return Thursday, and Marshall May, Texas University student this summer, will take over his duties as line coach Sept. 1.

Bob Cox has been in charge of athletics in the college this summer and will coach the varsity backfield next year.

The Buffaloes will have a powerful line built around Captain Leo Jackson, playing at the pivot position. To fill the hole left by John Rankin at right guard, Ezell Champion has been changed from the back field to that position, and the other guard post will probably be filled by Oscar Hinger, veteran at the position. George Caviness, senior letterman, will divide time at guard.

Coach Baggett will be faced with the task of filling two gaps left at the tackle positions by Clinton Meek and John Lee. Craig Walling who showed his abilities in spring practice, may get the call at left tackle, and J. P. Meek, husky sophomore, has illustrated that he is capable of holding down the other place. Gordon Murray and J. C. Turner, both burly Sophs, will be in there hustling for tackle posts.

With the exception of Lwood Dow at fullback, the backfield will have to be rebuilt. Foster Watkins, Amarillo College transfer, is the outstanding aspirant for quarter, and Tom Slack, Conway Butler, Monroe Horton, and Lee "Tiger" McLaury will be fighting for starting positions at the halves.

Forty-Four Young Men Live At T-Anchor Farm

Forty-four young men live on the T-Anchor College Farm. Operating a dairy and several patches of farm land for experimentation, these young men are students and find on the farm an opportunity to observe the practical outcome of their studies in agriculture and its related subjects.

Various projects are under way on the farm. The State Highway Department has made an agreement with the college and has placed a nursery on the T-Anchor. The farm boys care for these trees and shrubs. In return for these services the State Highway Department furnishes trees and other plants for the College campus and farm.

With N. Y. A. assistance the earthen reservoir on Spring Creek has been re-inforced with concrete and a stone sluiceway has been provided for this artificial lake. Water from this reservoir is used for recreational purposes—fishing upstream and swimming down stream—and for irrigation on the farm and nursery.

Supervisors of T-Anchor Farm have announced to potential applicants that the Farm is full for the coming fall term, which opens Sept. 15. The forty-four appointments have been made already, and there is a waiting list of 100 young men seeking placement on the farm.

Amarillo, A Tribute

It is the custom of this paper, from time to time, to give such enterprising Amarillo concerns as may desire, an opportunity to have the name of their establishment presented to the people of this section as they appear on this or other pages of this paper.

Care is exercised in the selection of the firms whose names are published. These articles are prepared by writers who are familiar with business conditions, and who make careful inquiry before a prospective advertiser is approached on the subject of publicity. Any concern that does not measure up to the standard set for this form of publicity, which is a resume of the business concern mentioned, is not given the opportunity to enter, hence it is with confidence born of investigation that the messages are published.

No individual or concern whose message appears herein has written of himself or his establishment. These stories were prepared by a representative of this paper, who has had much experience and who is under contract to present in these columns only such concerns as will pass the most rigid investigation as to honesty and reliability.

AMARILLO GAS COMPANY, OF AMARILLO IS OF MUCH VALUE AS A COMMUNITY ASSET

One of the greatest factors in human life of all times has been the fuel by which food is cooked, homes heated, water heated and the diversified industrial processes carried out. Modern life, due to greater housing and commercial congestion and to the shortness of time and energy which may be expended on laborious operations, demands that such fuel be easily procured, that it requires no storage space, and that it have no residue. This fuel must be adaptable to exacting automatic control and reasonable in price. Such a fuel is gas, the modern ideal fuel for any purpose which requires heat. A great and true slogan is "If It Can Be Done With Heat, It Can Be Done Better With Gas."

One of Amarillo's public utility concerns furnishing a very excellent service at nominal rates being under a progressive and public spirited management. One of the most popular concerns with its thousands of patrons who have always found not only satisfactory, but courteous service.

There is not a more difficult or a more thankless task than the successful operation of a modern gas company. And the disadvantages under which such a concern must labor has been increased several hundred percent by the continued advances in the cost of supplies, labor and everything else that pertains to the conduct of a public utility company.

Therefore we wish to direct the attention of all of our readers to the admirable manner in which the Amarillo Gas Co. has served its many subscribers; to the extremely low rates that have been charged; to the modern equipment and the continuous improvements made to keep each and every branch of the service up-to-date; and to the public-spirited policies that have characterized the manager's direction of this important public utility.

To the Amarillo Gas Company must go no small portion of the credit of the progress and expansion of this part of Texas for it has been a most important factor in our civic development. Its presence here in active operation and under expert supervision of such a metropolitan utility company is really a factor that adds to the attractiveness of all of the territory it serves as a more desirable community in which to live or locate.

It is not surprising then, that a business conducted along these lines has grown to such enormous proportions and gained such an enviable reputation in the business world.

The management is composed of men of broad experience in lubrication and know the oil business from A to Z. You can rely on what they tell you about the oils or greases best suited to your particular need, whether for auto, truck, tractor, machine shop or factory. Discriminating Buyers Choose Kerr Paper Company for Quality

To be merely rendering an average service in an average establishment is all well and good. But to be able to give a service that is just a little in advance of others in an establishment that has become a feature of the commercial life of the community; that is indeed something worth while. And that is just exactly that case with the Kerr Paper Co., located in Amarillo at 1316 Tyler St., Phone 5366.

First they insist that their service is dependable. You know that you are going to get value received and courteous treatment when you trade here because past experience has taught you that they are personally interested in you and your trade. Next, they leave nothing undone in their effort to provide for you the very best that can be had for the money in printing paper, and they give complete service in anything pertaining to this line of endeavor to all dealers, as they serve the wholesale trade only.

Thus you are afforded the dependability of trading with people whom you know and who know you, and at the same time you have your choice from a large stock and are served in the most efficient and modern manner.

These are some of the secrets of success of the Kerr Paper firm an ever popular establishment These are some of the reasons why the experienced management finds that trade increases each season. These are but a few of the reasons that we wish in this tribute review to direct the special attention of all dealers to Kerr Paper Co. as one of the essential factors in the life of the community, and as a place to buy the best printing paper of the day. But what we particularly call the dealers and the wholesale trade attention to, is the fact that in trading here you deal with people who are here every day and interested in you and your welfare.

THEATRE AIDS IN UNIFYING TWO CITIES

While this issue of the Canyon News is dedicated to Amarillo and Amarillo enterprises, the Paramount Theatre wishes to employ its space in reaffirming its own dedication to the good of these two communities which are next-door neighbors.

Since the two cities are drawn so close to each other through their common interests, many of the needs which can be filled by a theatre are interchangeable between citizens of Amarillo and citizens of Canyon.

Many of the patrons of the Paramount Theatre live in Canyon. When these people are our guests we try to show them the same courtesy which we in turn are shown by Canyon when our business pursuits bring us to this city.

A representative of the Paramount Theatre is present in Canyon today to obtain a motion picture record of the graduation exercises, a film which will be shown shortly at the Paramount. We are doing this because of our own interest in youth and education, and because we feel sure that this interest is shared by our patrons.

The Paramount especially invites those citizens of Canyon who are not already fans, to tune in on each Saturday morning from 10:15 until 10:45 to station KGNC for the weekly Kiddie Broadcast from the stage of the Paramount. These children appear there before hundreds of other children in a radio program carefully planned for fullest entertainment value.

During the remainder of August, two exceptional films are scheduled for the Paramount, "Rhythm on the Range" with Bing Crosby and Bob Burns, the Bazooky Man for Van Buren, Arkansas; and Shirley Temple in "The Poor Little Rich Girl."

September will bring a special group of autumn releases to the Paramount, including "Texas Rangers," official Texas Centennial photoplay with Jack Oakie and Fred MacMurray; "China Clipper," with Pat O'Brien; "His Brother's Wife," with Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck; "Piccadilly Jim" with Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans; "Swingtime" with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, and "Gorgeous Hussy" with Joan Crawford and Robert Taylor.

Sales Policy Used By Grand Silver Earns Approval of Value-Seekers

Nowhere else can there be found a line or an assortment that surpasses those shown by the F. & W. Grand Silver Stores, 701 Polk St., Phone 2-3530, Amarillo, and few indeed, are able to approach it in these features and at the values here offered. The service distinguishes this store above the others of the ordinary kind in similar lines.

The great service that the Grand Silver Store extends to the public makes it a great economic value to the community and thus they are rendering the public the highest type of mercantile service.

The success of this modern merchandising firm is due to two outstanding features in the organization. First the strength of their collective buying, second the high order of the services in their stores. The F. & W. Grand Silver Store is a recognized meeting place for shoppers from all the surrounding territory.

The enormous buying power of Grand Silver and their ability to secure mill output are outstanding features not lost sight of by the people. They know that an establishment of this character can quote prices that the smaller shop is unable to meet. The middleman's profits are deducted from the cost to the public.

To this store, its manager, G. C. Carter, and personnel this writer extends his warmest congratulations.

Good teeth! What other two words in the English language mean so much to all of us? Yes, good teeth mean much insofar as appearance is concerned; for a person of intelligence is expected to have some reasonable showing of care in this respect. But let us go deeper. Bad teeth go deep down into the vitals of our very health and if we have infected teeth we have rheumatism and all sorts of serious and painful disorders. Sometimes this is because we have feared the dentist's chair and again because we have feared we did not have sufficient funds to pay the dentist's charges. That is why it is a pleasure to refer to Mayo & Bennett Dental Clinic, 318½ Polk Street, Phone 2-3436, Amarillo, who are one of the finest and most efficient dentist firms in Amarillo. IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

BY PHILIP MARTIN

For many weeks the Giants drifted aimlessly in the second division. The wagering gentlemen at that time would have taken almost any amount of currency offered on the pennant chances of the Gothamites and at very fancy odds.

Very few sport scribes picked the Giants to win the flag, but most of them had conceded the club a first division berth. Injuries, however, put the New Yorkers on the skids.

Manager Terry's knee went back on him and Memphis Bill was forced to do his masterminding from the bench for a time. Things didn't work out so well under this arrangement, however. The Giants just don't seem to click as smoothly with Terry bossing from the sidelines as when he is right on the scene of action. Terry, despite his age, still packs a lusty punch at the platter.

But with Terry back the victory march is in full swing.

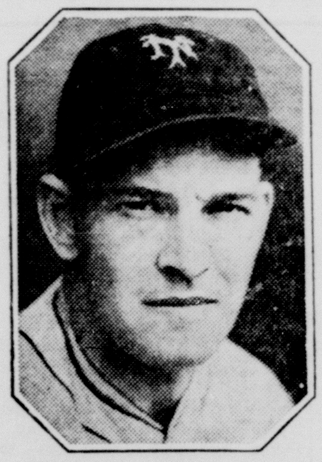
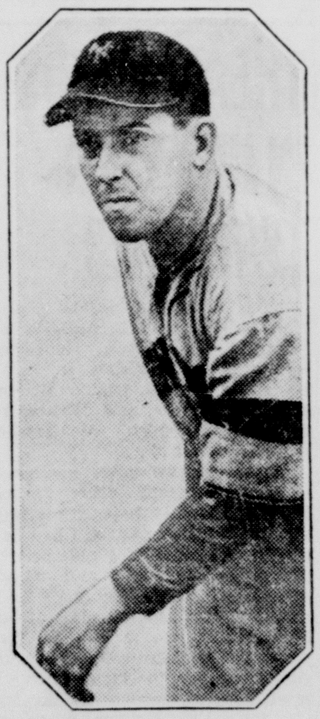
THE hurling staff is functioning in a very creditable manner. Frank Gabler, who came up from the bull pen to win himself a regular job, is collaborating with Freddie Fitzsimmons, whose ailing arm had given Frank steady work. Hal Schumacher, Carl Hubbell, Harry Gumbert and Al Smith fill out a well-balanced hill corps.

Mel Ott has furnished the big poke, however, in pounding in runs and hammering out four-base swats with regularity. Incidentally, he has hung up a National League batting record, being the first individual to drive in 100 or more markers for eight consecutive years.

Jimmy Ripple, Joe Moore and Sam Leslie are doing their share of work at the plate, and Hank Leiber and Gus Mancuso, if they don't boast such spectacular batting averages, are holding up their ends of the burden.





Two features of the Giant drive have been the consistently fine pitching of Al Smith, right, and the batting of Mel Ott, above, which has brought the youthful veteran the record of being the first National leaguer to drive in more than 100 runs for eight consecutive seasons.

Mancuso has been especially valuable. The Italian receiver's handling of the pitchers is smooth and efficient. And base runners don't take many liberties with his powerful and accurate throwing arm.

• • •

BURGESS WHITEHEAD, at the keystone sack, has made an admirable work mate for Dick Bartell at short and Stoney Jackson, the old fellow who still holds down the third base job.

The remainder of the Giants' schedule is comparatively soft; they will be pitted against the not-so-tough eastern teams. And please bear in mind that the front-running Cubs and Cards will be lambasting each other during the same period.

If these two outfits battle each other to a standstill and the Giants come through with colors flying against their less fortunate eastern brethren, it might open the way for an all-New York series—assuming, of course, that the Yankees bag the bunting in the junior circuit.

And so, fans, in case you are contemplating attendance at the big show in October, don't buy your railroad ducats yet. A five-cent subway fare may be all that is necessary to transport you between the two battlegrounds after you get to New York.

Fortenberry Is High Point Man In Olympics Game

U. S. Cagers Trounce Canadian Squad 19 to 8

Joe Fortenberry, towering center from Happy and a member of the United States basketball team was the individual high scorer with 8 points in a game Friday between Canada and the United States at the Olympics in Berlin.

The Americans were victorious over the Canadians with a score of 19-8. Wind and rain and a court deep in mud added to the hazards of the game.

Uncle Sam's representatives maneuvered for a 14 to 5 lead by the end of the first half, but failed to continue their blistering pace.

Fortenberry contributed good work on the defense. Twice he leaped up and caught the ball as it was headed directly for the net.

Fortenberry attended W. T. in 1932-33.

Great Powers, With Much at Stake, Fear Spread of Spanish Civil Strife

Typifying the long-drawn-out course predicted for Spain's civil war are these government troops advancing by inches as they follow retreating rebel forces in the Guadarrama mountains north of Madrid.

CHIPS of peace balance precariously on shoulders of well-armed European powers these days as what started out to be "just another rebellion in Spain" threatens to embroil most of the world.

No nation in Europe actually wants war right now. But Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and Soviet Russia all have vital stakes in the bloody game Spain's quarreling factions are playing. These interests might easily fan the Iberian domestic squabble into the long-looked-for, much-dreaded Next War.

That is the reason diplomats have been unusually cautious since the revolt broke. That is the reason more powerful states have not seized advantages offered by the Spanish strife.

Although the inevitable complications of international diplomacy accompany developments in Spain, the positions of the five dominant European powers are fairly well defined.

* * *

GREAT BRITAIN has her place in the Mediterranean and the life line of empire to think about. The British have watched a militant Italy weaken Britain's traditional domination of the Mediterranean. Thanks to his power in the air, Mussolini now is able to make a bid for the whip hand in that sea.

It is rumored Spanish rebels have offered Mussolini the port of Ceuta in Spanish Morocco and the island of Minorca in the Balearics for Il Duce's support in the revolution.

Fortifications at these strategic points might easily deliver control of the Gibraltar to India route to Mussolini. He already has bases in Tripoli, Pelage Island, Eritrea, Ethiopia, and Italian Somaliland. Minorca would cut the Gibraltar-Malta line and Ceuta would nullify British control of the Straits of Gibraltar.

Along with these factors, the Italian leader must consider that the revolt in Spain is predominantly a Fascist movement. A sympathetic Spanish government might prove a useful ally for Italy.

France would not like to see the rebels victorious in Spain. The French cast fearful eyes now to the east and southeast, where potent Fascist governments are growing up in Germany and Italy.

Another Fascist neighbor to the southwest would not help things for France. Because of this, and because the Popular Front government holding unsteady sway over Spain is patterned along lines of France's Leftist government, Premier Leon Blum has been under pressure to aid Madrid.

INFLUENCING Russian sympathies has been the fact that, if the government retains control in Spain, Spanish Communists may grab the reins. Nazi Germany has this to consider also. Then there is the Nazi quarrel with Spanish loyalists over incidents such as the reported killing of Germans by Communist supporters of the government. Berlin has blamed the Soviets for the Spanish trouble.

Veteran observers in Washington believe the State Department is more concerned over the Spanish crisis than it has been over any development since the World War. Secretary Hull is not vacationing this summer, as he wants to keep his finger on the situation.

One of Hull's biggest worries is that European powers may agree on a general embargo on shipment of arms to Spain and the combatants will turn to America for war materials. And, because of a loophole in the neutrality law, the United States may have no legal way to prevent shipment of arms across the Atlantic.

The government might appeal to its citizens to refrain from sellings arms to either side. But similar appeals were not particularly effective from 1914 to 1917.

U. S. Corn Crop Lowest Since 1881

After computing damage of the July drouth, the Department of Agriculture predicted the smallest corn crop in 55 years for the United States. The crop reporting board forecast a 1936 corn yield of 1,439,135,000 bushels, reflecting a loss of more than 800,000,000 bushels since the July 10 estimate. The board also predicted a wheat crop barely large enough to meet domestic needs. The above picture shows graphically how the dry, hot weather has withered midwestern corn fields. The picture was taken in one of the country's best corn-raising sections, near Fairfield, Ill.

Buffalo Grocery and Market Gets Market for Cream

Ray Campbell, owner of the Buffalo Grocery and Market, states that he will have his building and equipment ready by next week to handle cream. An addition is being built to the store which is equipped to handle cream. The room itself is complete in every detail to meet all of the requirements for the sanitary handling of cream.

New equipment is being installed, which includes a steam vat and cream tester.

"We hope to give the farmers of Randall county the best market they have ever had for their cream," stated Mr. Campbell, yesterday.

In addition to the equipment for handling cream, Mr. Campbell is improving his plant to handle poultry. At the present time he has the only government approved plant for furnishing drawn poultry to the CCC camps of this area. The facilities are being improved in this building improvement.

C. R. Burrow, foreman of the Grand Jury, filed the following report with Judge Nelson:

"With the aid of the local officers and having some 20 witnesses before us, we have returned 5 true bills and 3 no bills, and also investigated 2 cases of a misdemeanor nature. We find that during the past six months there has been very few violations of the law. During this August term of court the Grand Jury has met only 3 days.

"The main law violations that have been brought to our attention has been reckless driving and drunken driving upon our streets and highways. We respectfully urge the citizens to co-operate with the officers in careful driving in order to reduce the number of accidents."

Drouth Commission

Army division engineer from Kansas City; H. H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service; and Lewis C. Gray, special consultant and head of the land utilization division of the Resettlement Administration.

The commission heard a report from the five-state soil erosion advisory committee, which held an all day session Sunday, recommending a set-up for administration of the permanent program. The report was read by Dean H. Umberger of Manhattan, director of the Kansas Extension Service and chairman of the committee.

Work relief projects for the development of wells, ponds and springs were among the recommendations. Urged also were:

1. Extension of $500 maximum seed loans by the Farm Credit Administration.
2. Continuance of the Resettlement Administration's feed and seed loans.
3. Gully control projects, including water spreading outlet construction for terracing and other water conservation practices.
4. Construction of pit and trench silos for feed conservation.
5. Removal of cacti from pastures, and noxious and poison weed control.
6. Elevating and grading of farm-to-market roads.
7. Provisions for the digging of wells, building of windmills and ponds for water storage to supply livestock needs and a limited garden irrigation.
8. Construction of small irrigation projects through loans to co-operative associations and construction of reservoirs and rebuilding of other reservoirs that have been torn out but have water rights and would restore present needy communities to a self-sustaining basis.
9. Planting of trees for shelter, windbreaks and wood lots.

After spending the day in this section, the commission left in two army busses to take an 1800 mile drive to the north, visiting Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, and Wyoming. The group is expected to meet President Roosevelt and make a report regarding conditions which they found.

All classified advertisements must be paid in advance unless arrangements are made in person to care for the payment of them. Classified ads received through the mail will not be published unless accompanied by the cost of insertion.

Word ads intelligently—do not try to save a few cents by leaving out necessary words; tell who, what, wher, and if essential, when and why.
